

THE GAZETTE OF DENVER.

The Champion of the People's Standard.

Advocates of the Eastern Press and Foreign Gold.

Massachusetts Democrats Nominate Their Candidates.

The Cause of Silver.

DENVER, October 7.—Ivan C. Xie, of New York, arrived in this city last evening and is a guest at the Windsor. Mr. Xie comes here at this time to consult with the executive committee of the National Silver Association preparatory to making a missionary tour in behalf of the cause of silver. He is a student of the cause of silver and is a student of the American representative of the European association, having been a member of the New York association as a life-long student of finance, and ranks as one of the ablest advocates of the cause of silver in the country. He is at present on a month's leave of absence and this time he proposes to devote to the cause of silver the study of which he has favored so much of his time. Mr. Xie was met this morning in the private office of Governor Bacon by a number of members of the Silver Association and other prominent gentlemen, among whom were the following: Governor Bacon, ex-Governor James B. Grant, Hon. G. G. Symes, ex-Senator J. A. W. Baker, Hon. J. B. McPherson, Hon. J. S. Sullivan, Dr. J. C. Saxe, Hon. A. W. Comstock, Hon. Hingey S. Wood and General J. F. Johnson. An informal discussion of the silver question was had and the best means of accomplishing the work for which the Silver Association was organized was canvassed. Mr. Xie addressed the gentlemen at some length regarding the light which is being made on silver in the east and in Europe, and gave some interesting facts regarding the same. The incessant stench of the "overload of silver" now was proved by the fact that Germany with a single gold standard has less gold in her treasury than has France with a double standard. He further stated that the light of the press of the eastern cities upon silver and silver coinage is directly traceable to the gold of British brokers, which is placed where it will do the most good, being the desire of the British capitalists and speculators to have silver demonetized in this country. These statements, the gentleman said, he could prove satisfactorily to all by facts which were in his possession and by the admission of the very press which is thus carried by subsidization. Dr. Slater, who is secretary of the national executive committee, asked Mr. Xie for his views regarding the holding of the silver convention at New Orleans. The gentleman replied that there is to be a bankers' convention in that city about the first of December. To this convention, he said, he would not invite the bankers of the United States, but those of Mexico, Central America and portions of South America as well, have been bidden. The object of holding this convention at that time was to force one of the objects, he said, was to get the sympathy and support of the countries to the south of us against silver. The other is to bring every influence to bear to prevent Mr. Xie and being appointed to the position of chairman of the coinage committee of the House of representatives of the next congress. The plan was to hold what would be called a United States silver congress in New Orleans immediately following the bankers' convention on the 11th and 12th of December; that this congress the members of the Spanish-American republics to the south be invited, and that every effort be made to counteract the serious influence which the gold congress and bankers' convention is certain to work. Other matters connected with the work of advancing the cause of silver were discussed, but the question of holding the silver congress was left open for the present. There will be another meeting of the committee shortly, at which some definite steps will be taken.

Silver Congress at New Orleans.

WASHINGTON, October 7.—The board of management of the new National Central and South American exposition at New Orleans have agreed to their statement, says an "American silver congress," assigning to December 11 and 12, the two days following the "American bankers' congress." This was in response to a request from the silver interests. Steps have been taken to secure a grand display of products from the silver regions of the United States.

Massachusetts Democrats.

Worcester, October 7.—The democratic state convention was called to order by John A. Collins. The usual domestic issues were a topic. The committee on permanent organization reported the names of John E. Fitzgerald for president. The committee on resolutions presented a platform which renewed adherence to the principles of the democracy as set forth at the last national convention at Chicago; congratulated the people of the whole country on the election and inauguration of a democratic president and vice president. We expect under his administration every reform required to make the government pure and honest will be made; that every service will be equalized on the basis of justice and equity, securing to the administration official sympathy with the people; that we recognize the principle that every officer of the republic is a public servant, strictly responsible to his people and to the office which he holds; that the people, that public lands will be reserved from the hands of speculators and bankers and moneyed interests; that the principle of government of the government be so economically and honestly administered as to impose the least possible burden of taxation on the people. We believe in a free, honest, unobstructed market, one opposed to competition of convicts with the labor of honest people. We demand immediate enactment of a national bankruptcy law; that the important American industries as a nursery for our naval power and protection of our coasts and sea-ports in time of war ought to receive consideration of the administration at Washington. The resolutions were adopted by unanimous vote, and the convention took a recess.

The convention adjourned at 2:15 p. m. The names of James S. Grinnell, of Portland, Frederick O. Prince of Boston and Edward Avery of Braintree were presented to the convention as suitable persons to be chosen as candidates for the governorship. On the part of Mr. Grinnell, a speech was made in which he said the democratic and "fugitive" vote, and the "daybreak" vote. On the part of Mr. Prince, a speech was made in which he would be opposed by the Butler men, and it was decided to proceed to a vote, the adjournment of the delegates to be taken as they decided over the platform. A committee of one from each senatorial district was appointed to supervise the counting of the vote by officers of the convention. A committee of fifteen was appointed to suggest nominees for the remainder of the state ticket. The first ballot for governor resulted: Who's number of votes, 1,129; necessary to a choice, 565; Edward Avery 121, James S. Grinnell 493, Frederick O. Prince 518, scattering 10. On the second ballot Mr. Prince was nominated and much enthusiasm. The remainder of the ticket was as follows: John G. Moore, of Cambridge, lieutenant governor; Jeremiah Crowley, of Lowell, for secretary of state; Henry A. Bailey, of Lowell, for attorney general; Henry M. Cross, of Newburyport, for treasurer and receiver general; and James A. Deane, of Holyoke, for auditor.

The French Elections.

LONDON, October 6.—The French election returns will perhaps be made more intelligible to many American readers by a brief statement of the attitude of the various political parties. The conservatives, who have made extensive gains, are the monarchists of one faction or another. Some of them are adherents of the Comte de Paris, others of the Bonaparte family. They would like to see a monarchist government restored in France. The republicans or moderates are the supporters of the present ministry with Brisson and De Freycinet as the representative leaders. They are likewise partisans of Jules Ferry, who was formerly prime minister. The radicals look to Clemenceau as their leader. They are as eager as the monarchists for the overthrow of the republic, but only that they may give the government more radical leanings. The republicans wish to maintain a parliamentary form of government, but the radicals wish to abolish the senate and substitute in the place of the chambers as at present constituted some body like the council of 1783. The loss of seats by the republicans will lead to a reconstruction of the present ministry. It seems doubtful at this time whether the ministry can gather about it a working majority in the new chamber. Shrewd observers, in fact, believe that the new cabinet will be short-lived; that no ministry can be patched up that will command support and that consequently there will be another dissolution and another general election in the near future. Manger, Waldeck, Rousseau, Legendre and Leraut, who were defeated in the election, have resigned their seats in the cabinet.

Salisbury's Policy.

LONDON, October 7.—Lord Salisbury spoke at the national conservative conference at Newport today, referring to the circumstances in the Balkans the premier said that he had no part in the duty of the British ambassador to interfere in the affairs of Roumania. The treaty of Berlin has not been frustrated, nor has the San Stefano treaty been restored. The policy of the government is to uphold the Turkish empire, and whenever possible to do so gently and peacefully, to uphold, cherish and foster strong, substantial, and on a basis to have an important bearing on the future of Europe. For the present, he said, the powers will combine the disturbance within the limits of Roumania. An influence would have been exerted in Roumania, growth of Roumania if the latter country was united with Bulgaria in 1878. He favored a great change in present measures for local government. To decentralize the authority of London was an indispensable part of the new government's policy. People have a right to be heard in the burden of the expenses of the country, not one those having houses and lands. The premier in answering a question as to the extent of government authority should be extended to the land, said extension might give more facility to the majority to do in justice to the minority. Conservative traditions, he said, were clear. He regarded the integrity of the empire above a political consideration. He favored the imperial federation movement, but his plans in regard to the matter had not yet been fully shaped. He believed in a closer union of England and her colonies with a view to proving the real strength of the nation in European councils, and said it was one of the most important questions of the future. He favored measures for cheapening the sale and transfer of land, and said the government had received returns showing crime in the land had decreased. Boycott was an amendment to common law, which would be strictly enforced. Thirty-five prosecutions had already been started. Extending self-government to Ireland, he declared, is an open question. It is a desirable, as far as possible, to give Ireland the same benefits as enjoyed by the rest of the United Kingdom.

St. Louis Strike.

St. Louis, October 7.—The executive board of Knights of Labor and the executive committee of street car strikers were in session this morning, initiating new members into the order and perfecting plans for the conclusion of the fight. The executive board say there are no new developments and the men are sanguine of success. They declared that if the strikers could hold out for a week, they would be victorious.

The managers of the car companies at present. On the other hand, the strikers are engaged in new men and sending cars out under them, and each of the employees who are willing to work is assured of protection. The railway managers say that the strikers will be at work before night with full forces. They look for speedy termination of their troubles and declare them even now practically over. No violence has yet been attempted, and the strikers say none will be used.

The War on Polygamy.

SALT LAKE, October 7.—To combat Andrew Smith's case today in a case of unlawful cohabitation. He admitted that he was with two women as wives. The verdict was guilty; sentence postponed, on days. Tonight the church organ has nearly a page across the first pages, on Taylor and George C. Cannon, read in conference at Logan today. They do not show up, being wanted by the officials. The church assails the courts for persecution of its people, who is of miss onary work, how the gospel must prevail and how it promises to Zion be fulfilled. Concerning polygamy it says: "We do not reveal it; God ordained it and we cannot withdraw or renounce it."

Banquet to Logan.

BALTIMORE, October 5.—General John A. Logan was tendered a banquet at the Baltow hotel to-night by the Logan Invincible of Maryland. A banquet of 25 people partook of the banquet. After the removal of a cold General Logan was welcomed by W. A. Kane, republican candidate for clerk of the court of appeals. General Logan responded by returning thanks to the organizers. He paid a high compliment to the army, its loyalty, energy, wealth, intelligence and growth of Baltimore. Of national affairs he said the government is responsible for the name and the people's sake. He exhorted us to the point where every citizen shall have a voice in the affairs of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and vote against a power to enact laws or violence or deprive an American citizen of his right of voting for a man to be elected. He said the duty of the citizen was to be elected to the office of the nation without fear or influence. He declared that the duty of every honest man is whatever party to speak and

